

Waterstone is the winner of Dream Home Awards Best Multi-Family Project for 2011.

Recipients of the Dream Home Awards are recognized for creating America's "dream homes" and for setting new standards of excellence in the nation's building industry.

When Waterstone's acclaimed architect Larry Speck said, "We know we are making something special here," he was right. Each of the 71 units in Waterstone was built to take full advantage of the sunlit views while simultaneously respecting the natural shape of the lakeside terrain. Speck mused, "Our vision for the project was like what you see in Italy, where the landscape and buildings become one."

"We thought of a wide range of people when creating Waterstone," Speck said. "It's a wonderful family community, or for empty-nesters, it's a place where the kids can come and visit." With floor-to-ceiling windows, an unobtrusive atmosphere and earthy hues adorning every surface, the design of Waterstone is about people feeling connected to the outdoors within their own space – an ideal combination of landscape and lifestyle.
